

In particular, the latest experimental techniques and equipment for evaluating important properties of powders will be discussed and related to both the underlying principles and common industrial problems.

The different powder processing operations will be discussed and the range of equipment and machinery for each will be critically reviewed.

The course is offered by The Center for Professional Advancement, in collaboration with SiTec PharmaBio.

Read more <http://feedproxy.google.com/~r/biopmed-news/~3/ynzPA2aDC6c/index.php>